PERSONAL SKILLS

- Communication – as a UX Designer, communication played an integral part in all my roles where I had to clearly communicate the logical thinking behind the user experiences I designed, to the product owners, clients, development team and the quality assurance engineers.
 - Collaboration – at 99x I worked with the biggest team in my career and had to collaborate with each member to ensure we all understood the requirements of the clients and to brainstorm ideas to solve each problem.
 - Reliability – throughout the 8 years of work as a UX Designer, I was trusted with each task by my superiors on delivery time and quality of work.
 - Teamwork – in all the organisations I worked for, I was very friendly and outgoing with the team while ensuring everyone's ideas were heard.
